

Can't imagine why legislation that limits a small company's ability to compete would be considered. Broadcasting is already consolidated into a few large companies. I'm all for free market competition.